

Saluzi

'My horse Saluzi could fly like a sparrow and possessed a unique physical strength and charismatic character on the battlefield'
Emperor Taizong
599 - 649

The former cruise ship built by Austal, is the product of remarkable engineering and vision, designed to offer a truly unique floating vacation home for exploring Asian waters.

ABOUT

Saluzi is a voluminous yacht of great proportions, at 70 meters in length with a wide 13.8 metre beam it is the largest permanently based yacht available for charter in Asia. 1,650 square metres of guest space is spread across five decks comprising spa, hair salon, gym, karaoke bar and an open air cinema. 32 guests can lodge in cabins that are divided into two masters, seven VIPs and seven deluxe.

It is a summer class yacht with a shallow beam that, despite her size, can access to exploration areas, coral reefs and shores. With an aluminium hull and superstructure, Saluzi features an ultra-modern stabilisation system to reduce roll motion effect and ensure ultimate comfort throughout one's charter vacation. With a cruising speed of 12 knots, a maximum speed of 16 knots and a range of 1,500 miles, she is the perfect combination of performance and comfort.

INSPIRATION

She is named after the mystical warhorse of Tang Dynasty Emperor Taizong that, according to legend, despite being wounded in battle brought the Emperor back to safety. The artwork of the horse on the exterior of the yacht has been created by artist Li Jiwei as a modern interpretation of the ancient tale. Today, Saluzi, the yacht, represents the strength of an era and a symbol of modern spirit: 'Saluzi symbolises a dialogue amongst civilisations. By integrating an ancient Chinese royal horse with a modern yacht, Saluzi is an expression of both East and West. It is a blending of spirituality and materiality, a representation of multidimensional thinking.' says Li Jiwei.

DESIGN

Inspired by the notion of an ultra-chic floating beach house, Saluzi is a truly modern sanctuary for family and friends that combines both the space and privacy essential for creating a relaxed atmosphere in which to recharge and reclaim time.

The yacht was designed by Miami based designer Luiz de Baso and his team, the results of their work is stunning. "The briefing for the Saluzi interior team was, from day one, to think different, to be original. Although we did not know where this would lead, the owners knew exactly what they did not want. They did not want to play it safe, they were not afraid to take risks. It was a good time for us to be creative, to get inspired", says de Baso.

SERVICE
